BARGAIN BRA

NOT EVERY TOM BRADY ROOKIE CARD IS GOING TO COST YOU THAT NESTEGG YOU'VE BEEN SAVING FOR. TAKE A LOOK AT THESE 15 UNDERVALUED TOM BRADY RCS. PLENTY OF PRICE RANGES FOR ANYONE TO GET IN THE GAME.

By Ryan Cracknell

Bargains are in the eyes of the beholder. One collector's over-priced card may top another's bargain list.

We compiled this alphabetical list of 15 Tom Brady RCs that we believe are bargains . . . at least when compared with the highest-end Brady RCs on the market and in auctions.

DYS

GETTY IMAGES

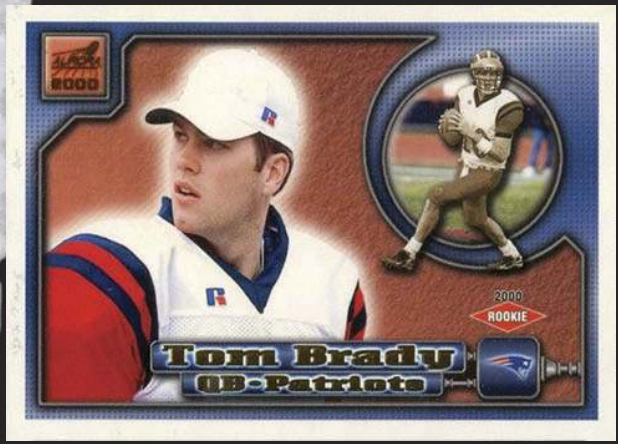
BARGAIN BRADYS

2000 AURORA

TOM BRADY RC #84

Pacific made some wild sets over the years. Although certainly busy, the 2000 Aurora Tom Brady Rookie Card is somewhat subdued – outside of the cap that seems to be glowing after whatever logo was on the front had been scrubed by Pacific. The card comes from one of the company's cheaper products. The generic colors in the main portrait add a generic blandness, an issue that's not limited to this card. This card carries the lowest book value for any solo Tom Brady RC: $20-$50.

PARALLEL: PREMIERE DATE (/85)

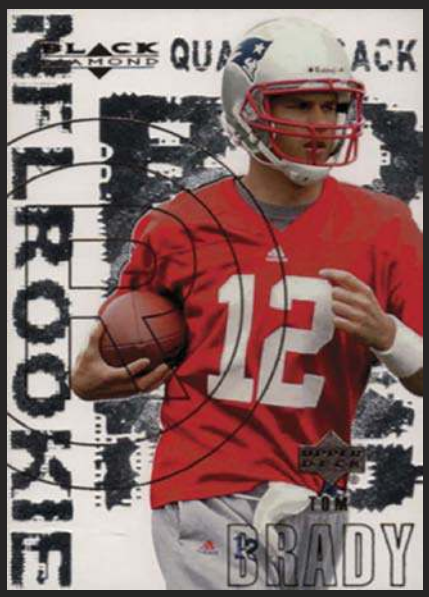


2000 BLACK DIAMOND

TOM BRADY RC #126 /2400

Foil and a slightly more edgy design are what's instantly recognizable by the 2000 Black Diamond Tom Brady Rookie Card. Made by Upper Deck, it's numbered to 2,400 copies. This puts it among the more plentiful of his numbered Rookies. Still, that added mark certainly adds to its standing, and in raw form it has settled in the $400 range. Bargain? For some, definitely.

PARALLELS: GOLD (/500)



2000 BOWMAN

TOM BRADY RC #236

A lot of card companies were making football cards in 2000. Most have several Tom Brady Rookie Cards. Topps does not. 2000 Bowman Football is one of just two sets from the card maker to have a first-year card of the quarterback. So even without a high-end look or any sort of additional elements normally found on premium cards, this one holds up quite well. The history of the Topps-produced Bowman line makes this a target for those looking to add a Brady RC with a tried and true name.

PARALLELS: ROY PROMOTION, GOLD (/99)

2000 CROWN ROYALE RETAIL

TOM BRADY RC #110

Pacific delivered 2000 Crown Royale with separate releases for hobby and retail. Both are virtually identical except retail has red in the background of the crown. This may actually be a bit of a sleeper as far as Tom Brady Rookie Cards go. Because retail versions are often overlooked or looked down upon compared to their hobby counterparts. But if you go looking for this copy, the retail one, it's significantly tougher to find on the secondary market. For what it is, it should be considered a bargain.

2000 DONRUSS ELITE

TOM BRADY RC #183 /2000

The serial number might say the 2000 Donruss Elite Tom Brady RC has 2,000 copies. In actuality, the base version has just 1,500. That's because the first 500 are Die-Cut parallels. Although done in foil, it's a lot more bold and brighter than a lot of other Elite sets, making for a more attractive card.

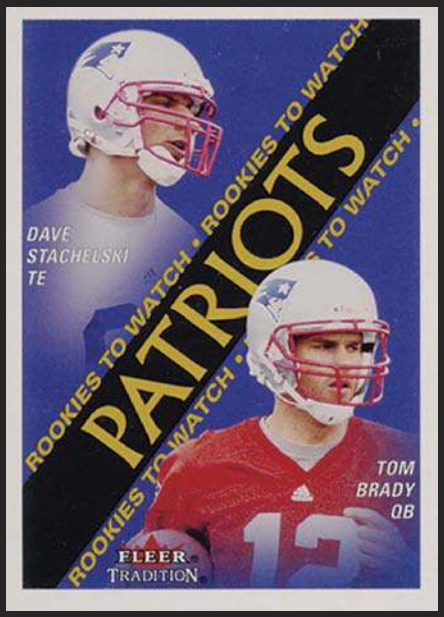
PARALLELS: ROOKIE DIE-CUTS (/2000 BUT ONLY 500 EXIST), ASPIRATIONS (/90), STATUS (/10)

2000 FLEER TRADITION

TOM BRADY/DAVID STACHELSKI RC #352

Multi-player Rookie Cards rarely work out in the end. Yes, 2000 Fleer Tradition does have Tom Brady but they paired him with Dave Stachelski, a tight end who played a total of nine games in his NFL career, none of which were with the Patriots. But for those with a tight budget, perhaps it's a good thing Stachelski is there as it drags the value down. Indeed, this Brady RC can still be bought in the $35-$40 range.

PARALLELS: GLOSSY, GLOSSY 2001 NATIONAL (1/1)



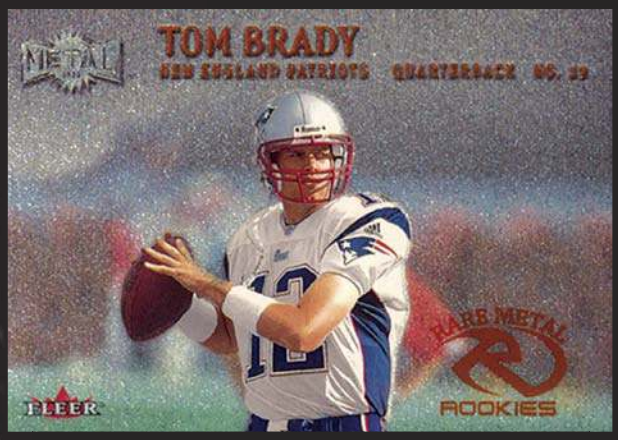
BARGAIN BRADYS

2000 METAL

TOM BRADY RC #267

Over the years, Metal was known for having some wild designs. The 2000 Metal Tom Brady — not so much. Yes, it's bold and tough to miss, but it's a far cry from the crazy stuff the brand was using a couple of years earlier. The card is one of 50 horizontal Rare Metal Rookies that are relative short prints in the product. One is included every other pack. The card's emerald parallel can be spotted easily as it has green along the top. Heading into Super Bowl LIII, this carried a raw value of $150.

PARALLELS: EMERALD



2000 PARAMOUNT

TOM BRADY RC #138

In a lot of ways, the 2000 Paramount is similar to the flagship Pacific card. This one has a little more design involved versus the full-bleed action focus, and the image of Brady looking downfield in the Senior Bowl is sharp. The design elements help this card stand out a little more. The team nod is a plus as well. Got an extra $60 in your pocket? If so, you, too, can own this bargain Brady.

PARALLELS: DRAFT PICKS (/325), HOLOGOLD (/130), HOLOSILVER (/85), PREMIERE DATE (/79), PLATINUM BLUE (/75)

2000 PRIVATE STOCK

TOM BRADY RC #128 /278

Not much is different from a retail version of this card, but the gold foil on the front is the giveaway here. On the back, the print run gives the card its value. In fact, at 278 copies, it's the rarest Tom Brady Rookie Card with a known print run. So why isn't it worth more? A big reason is likely the near-identical retail version that adds another 650 copies to the mix not to mention other parallels that have fair-sized print runs. So, yes, this particular version of the card is tough. But when you pool them all together, it's not nearly as scarce. This version? It carries a value of $300 in raw form.

PARALLELS: SILVER (/330), GOLD (/181), PREMIERE DATE (/95)

2000 PACIFIC PRISM PROSPECTS

TOM BRADY RC #156 /1000

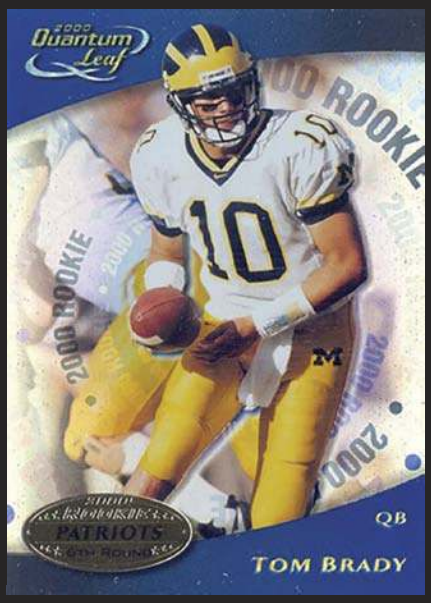
While not exactly "Chrome," the 2000 Pacific Prism Prospects Tom Brady evokes a somewhat similar look and feel. The print run of 1,000 copies makes it comparable to the 999 that the 2001 Topps Chrome Drew Brees has. The Brees card has exploded in recent months and the Prism Tom Brady doesn't get nearly the same attention or values. Granted, there's a big difference in the history of Prism and Chrome, but this is definitely something that could be seen as an alternative for those priced out by the 2000 Bowman Chrome Tom Brady and even Upper Deck Ionix.

2000 QUANTUM LEAF

TOM BRADY RC #343

Higher-end design, lower-end ($60-$80) price The 2000 Quantum Leaf Tom Brady Rookie Card ups the style a little bit. The holographic background gives it some shine. First-year players are inserted every other pack. However, even if they are short prints, it's not by much compared to veteran base cards.

PARALLELS: INFINITY GREEN (/75), INFINITY RED (/35), INFINITY PURPLE (/15)



2000 SCORE

TOM BRADY RC 316

As far as basic Tom Brady Rookie Cards go, 2000 Score is one of the loudest. The red of the border may clash with the yellow of his pants, but it certainly stands out. Score also has an established presence and history in the hobby, something that adds a bit to the card's reception today. With each passing year, Score becomes more and more of a historical brand. It may not be high-end, but that's just fine. A lot of Hall of Famers and future Hall of Famers have Score Rookie Cards now.

PARALLELS: SCORECARD (/2000), FINAL SCORE (/32)

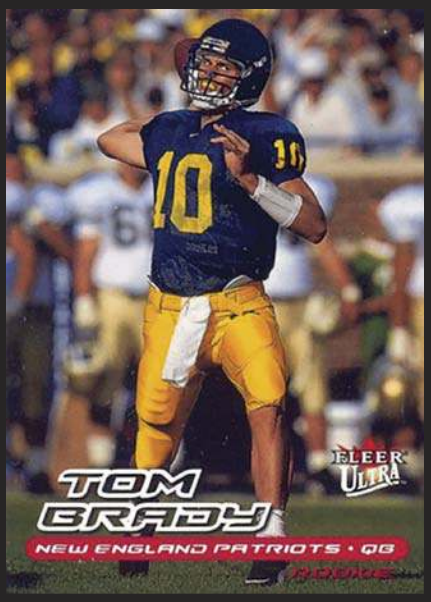
2000 ULTRA

TOM BRADY RC #234

When the Ultra brand debuted in the early 1990s, it was considered to be Fleer's answer to premium designs. By the time Tom Brady made his NFL debut, it's gloss was common across most sets and others had far surpassed it.

This card has a bright and sharp photo, although the lack of NFL and NCAA marks makes it a little generic. The winged Michigan helmet would have been a big plus for this card had Fleer owned the rights to collegiate marks at the time. As Brady's accolades continue to pile up, the Platinum Medallion parallel, which has just 25 copies (it came out at a time when print runs that low were legitimately tough to pull), has seen even higher surges.

The 2000 Ultra Tom Brady RC is a short print. It's one of 29 rookies that fall 1:4 packs. Figure somewhere in the $80 range for raw copies.



PARALLELS: GOLD MEDALLION, PLATINUM MEDALLION (/25), MASTERPIECE (1/1)

2000 UPPER DECK

TOM BRADY RC #254

The 2000 Upper Deck Tom Brady Rookie Card doesn't have a lot of energy. The track pants are somewhat symbolic in that regard. The Star Rookie subset here is a rarity for a flagship Upper Deck product — there's not much space dedicated to the image. Still it's part of the main Upper Deck set so that means something as the appeal goes beyond just single-card collectors. Star Rookies are short prints as well, landing 1:4 packs. The Upper Deck name helps keep this card at or around $150.

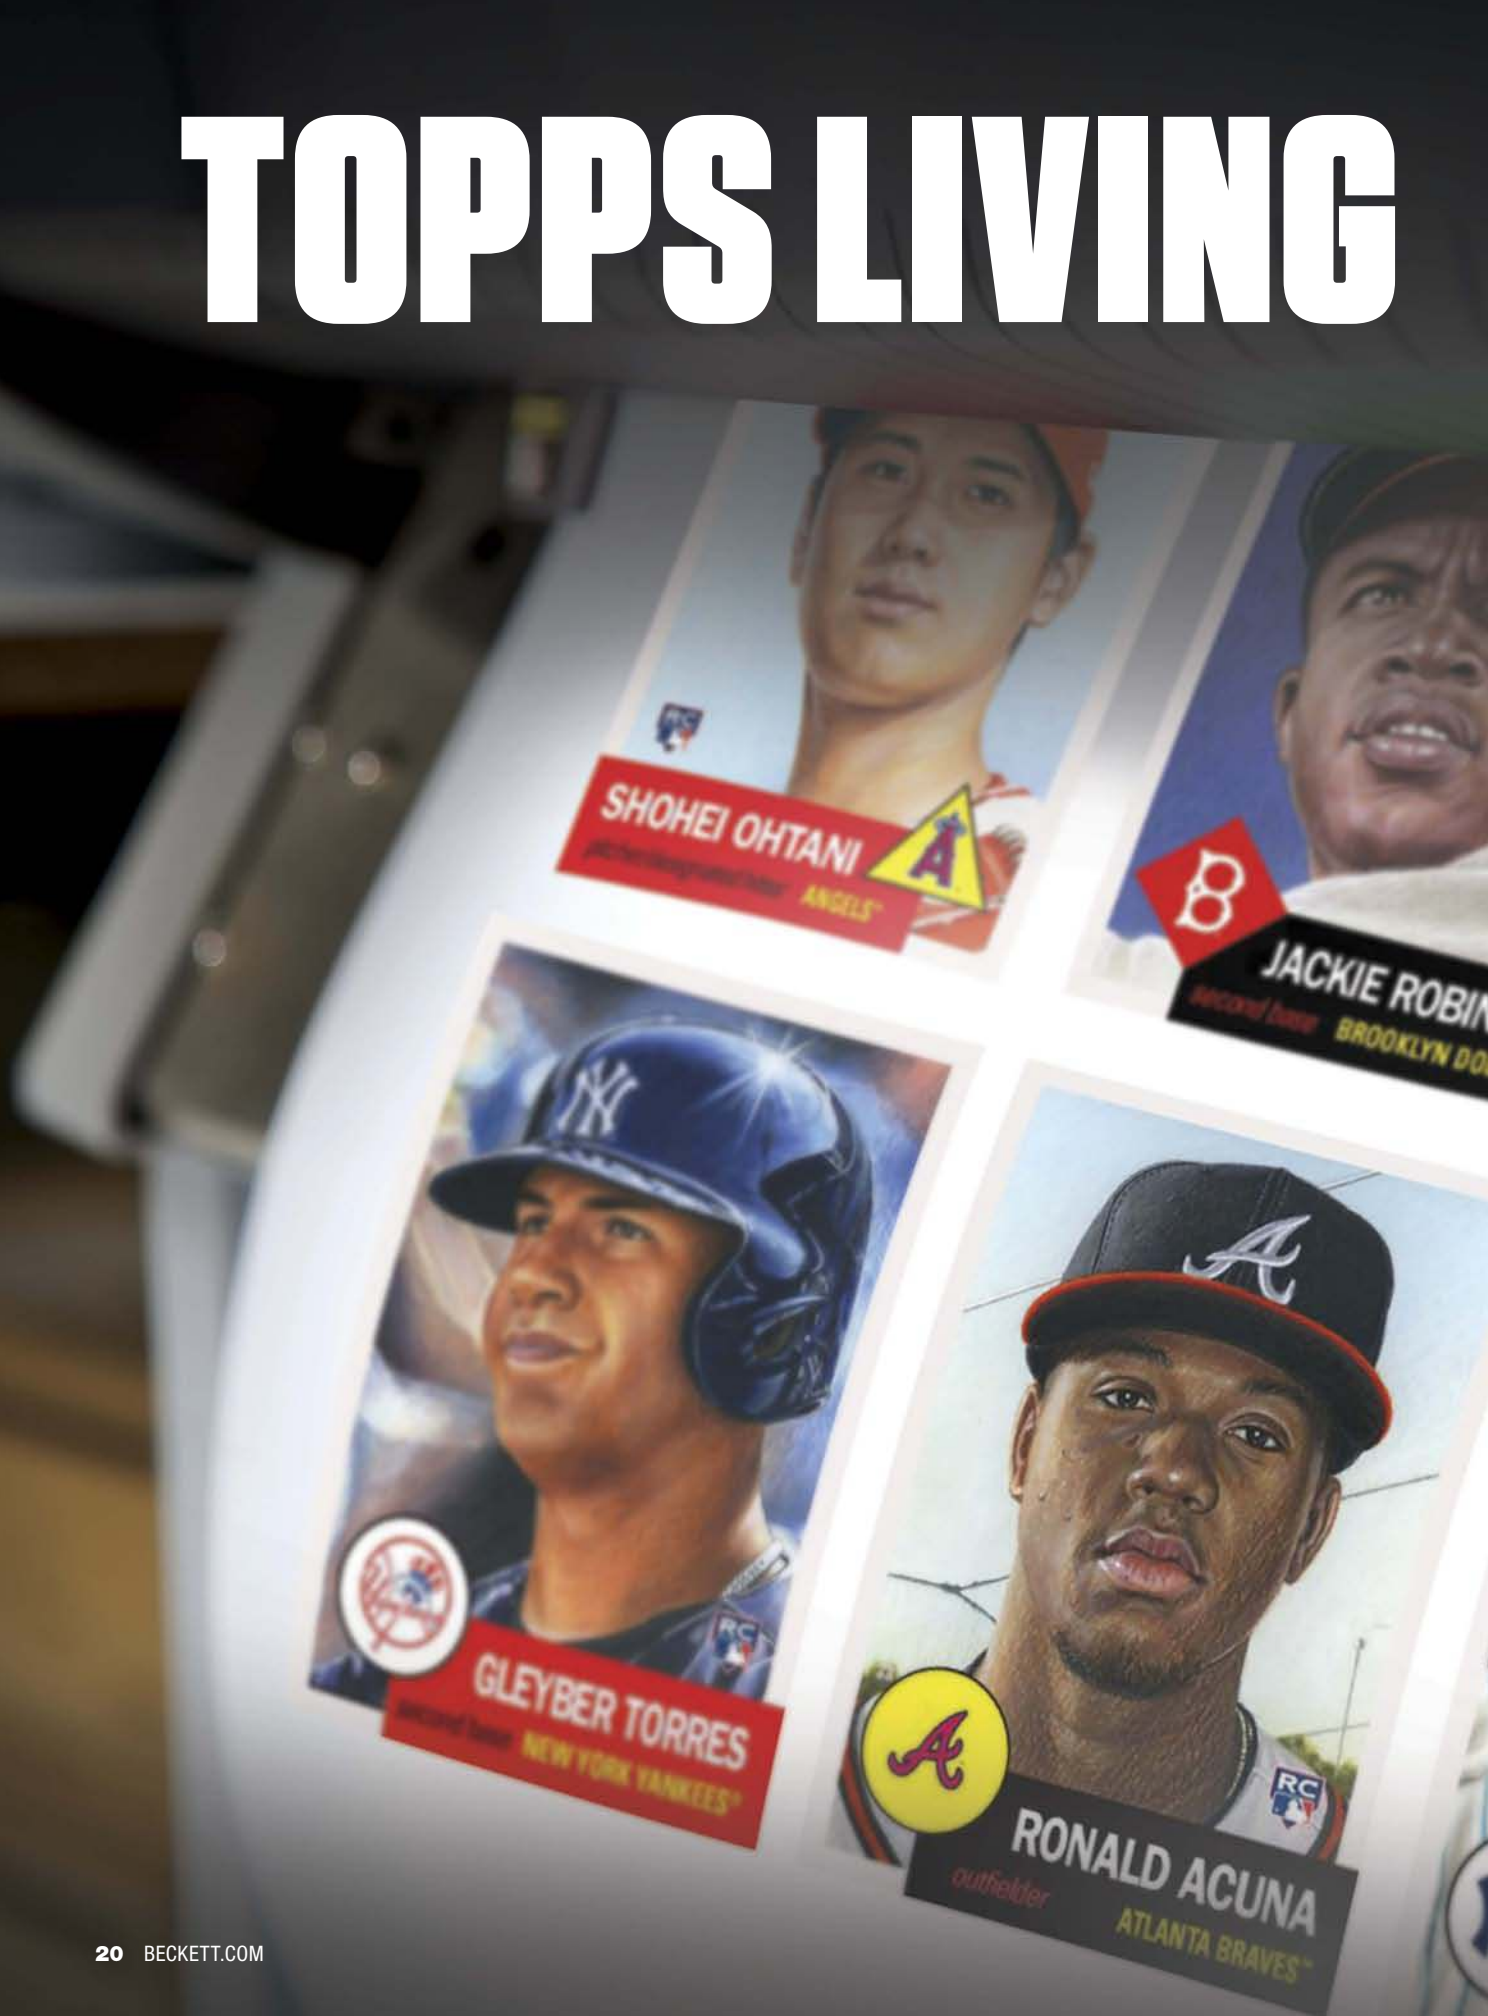
PARALLELS: EXCLUSIVES SILVER (/100), EXCLUSIVES GOLD (/25)

2000 UPPER DECK VICTORY

TOM BRADY RC #326

Victory was an entry-level product for Upper Deck that originally carried a suggested price tag of a meager $0.99 per pack. With a potential Tom Brady Rookie Card lurking inside, the days of finding unsearched packs at that price are likely long gone. But that lower price tag may have actually helped it a little today. It made Victory open to a wider base of collectors. And with just one of 60 Victory Rookie cards per pack, there could still be a little demand from set builders as well as those looking for a slightly cheaper Brady – falling in the $40-$60 range.

TOPPS LIVING



SET'S HIGH & LOW PRINT RUNS OF 2018

BY RYAN CRACKNELL

WHEN THE TOPPS LIVING SET LAUNCHED IN SPRING, 2017, IT BROUGHT WITH A CONCEPT THAT HAD BEEN TRIED BEFORE — A NEVER-ENDING CHECKLIST — BUT WITH THE ONLINE-ONLY, PRINT-ON-DEMAND SPIN. IT WAS MET WITH SOME INITIAL TREPIDATION AND FOR GOOD REASON. IN THE PAST, "LIVING" CHECKLISTS HAVE EVENTUALLY DIED. ALSO, WITH NEW CARDS EACH WEEK, THE COST ADDS UP.

So for the first couple of weeks, the Topps Living Set did well for online-exclusive standards. But after about a month, print runs took off. Shohei Ohtani topped 20,000 copies, which seemed like a max in this era of the hobby.

It turns out it wasn't. As collectors started getting their cards and the beauty of Mayumi Seto's art was seen in hand, the set's popularity exploded. Over the summer, "common" players were topping 5,000 copies each.

GETTY IMAGES

TOP TRENDS

But, overall, rookies still dominated the set's first calendar year of sales. Six of the top 10 highest print runs of Topps Living Set cards sold in 2018 belong to first-year players. And Ohtani wasn't the biggest. Or second biggest. His then unfathomable 20,966 copies were bettered by Gleyber Torres, Juan Soto and Ronald Acuna, all of whom came out around the time of the set's explosion.

Perhaps the biggest surprise among the top sellers is Pat Neshek, a reliever for the Philadelphia Phillies. Typically, relief pitchers aren't huge sellers. But Topps had a fan who went and ordered a lot — to the tune of 8,000 copies — for himself. The buyer? Neshek, a big card collector.

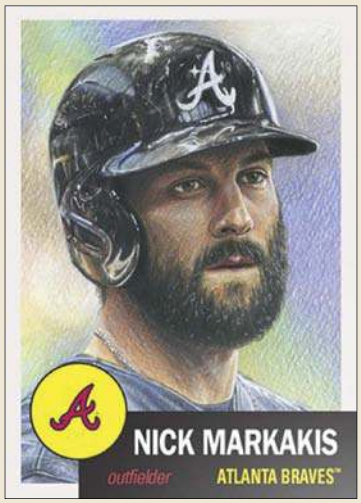
LOW PRINT RUNS, BIG DEMAND

Just because a Topps Living Set card fails to sell 5,000 copies during its initial week doesn't mean its not in demand. In fact, it can become the opposite once the cards hit the secondary market. If you'd told me on December 31, 2017 that a 2018 Nick Markakis card with a print run of more than 2,500 copies sell consistently for more than $150 (after peaking at around $200), I'd have laughed. And when I was done laughing, I'd laugh some more. Maybe not out loud, but definitely with that constant internal chuckle.

A $150 Nick Markakis card isn't logical — unless it's Topps Living Set.

Often I hear how set collecting is dying. It's not. Like everything else, it's evolving. There are people out there who want to chase and build sets. And a surge of them gravitated towards this particular product. However, it took a few weeks for them to realize. So as the Topps Living Set's popularity grew, people were scrambling to fill earlier gaps. And with Markakis being the card with the lowest print run, it quickly became a highly sought after card. One of the year's hottest, in fact.



Other short prints are also commanding premiums as the set goes forward. Maybe not to the degree of the Markakis card, but low print runs aren't necessarily a bad thing from all angles.

LOOKING AHEAD

Many of the lower print run cards have come recently, which is understandable considering interest in the game is lower. Don't be surprised if print runs make a jump once spring arrives and a new crop of rookies come along, not to mention the inevitable second Bryce Harper card should he sign somewhere other than Washington. The question is, how much will things bounce back?

Here's a countdown of the Topps Living Set cards released in 2018 with the biggest and smallest print runs.

THE GREEK FREAK RISES

THREE GIANNIS ANTETOKOUNMPO CARDS ON THE MOVE

BY STEVE DALTON

Giannis Antetokounmpo, who with Houston's James Harden is one of a few front-runners for NBA MVP, has led Milwaukee's ascension in the Eastern Conference. Here are three of his Rookie Cards whose graded versions are heating up:

01 2013-14 PANINI PRIZM #290 GIANNIS ANTETOKOUNMPO RC

This Prizm issue has become the go-to Antetokounmpo Rookie Card for collectors.

Despite this popularity, Gem Mint versions took a price hit last summer, dipping below the $100 mark and occasionally barely surpassing raw card values. However, BGS 9.5 prices have come roaring back into the $200 range, with non-black label 10s approaching $400.

Some may scoff at the sheer number of high-grade versions on the market, but currently, supply is not outpacing demand.

02 2013-14 PANINI GOLD STANDARD #231 GIANNIS ANTETOKOUNMPO RC AUTO JERSEY

The combination of jersey swatch and on-card autograph makes this RC an appealing target for many collectors. Recent Gem Mint sales have been strong, approaching $800 territory.

This card does tend to grade out well, with 214 of 305 submissions receiving the 9.5 distinction. Main condition issues are the left-to-right front centering and an all-tan card back that reveals any edge and corner chipping.

03 2013-14 SELECT #178 GIANNIS ANTETOKOUNMPO RC

Another affordable option with Prizm –like qualities, the Select RC has recently experienced a serious uptick in price. Over the course of a few months, Gem Mints have basically doubled in value to the current $80 range. Mint 9s are selling strong at high book or slightly above.

This Select rookie offering is a surefire grading candidate as about 90 percent of submissions have received grades of 9.5 or 10.

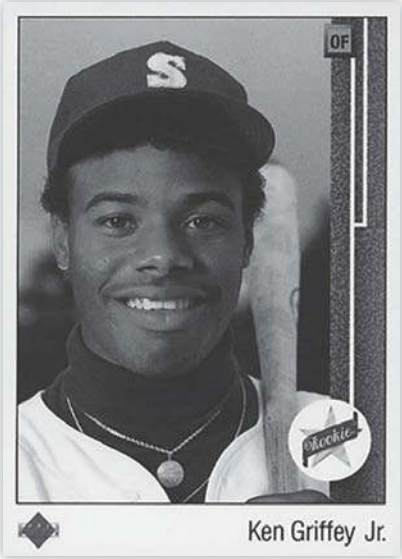
TEN ICONIC SPORTS CARDS TURNING 30 IN 2019

(AND ONE OF A GUY WITH A CUP CHECK)

By Ryan Cracknell

Back in 1989, sports cards were enjoying a big year, both in business and in change. The industry was booming, a new generation of young players was emerging and a new company entered the fray that changed things forever.

Looking back todaya, there's more nostalgia than monetary value in 1989 sports cards. And that's not a bad thing. It was a year that has lots of classic cards that still resonate today. Here are 11 of them.



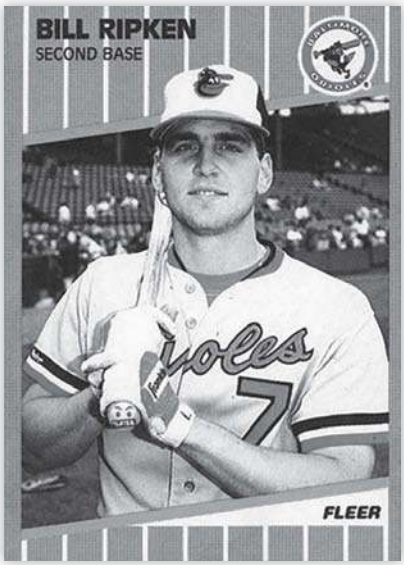
11 Iconic Sports Cards from 1989

The following cards are all from 1989 sets. Some may have been released initially in late 1988 or in the early 1990 calendar year, but are cataloged as 1989 cards.

1989 Upper Deck Ken Griffey Jr. RC #1

The 1989 Upper Deck Ken Griffey Jr. Rookie Card is bigger than 1989. As far as important baseball cards go, it should easily rank in the top 10 of all-time. Heck, I'd even argue top 3 next to the T206 Honus Wagner and 1952 Topps Mickey Mantle.

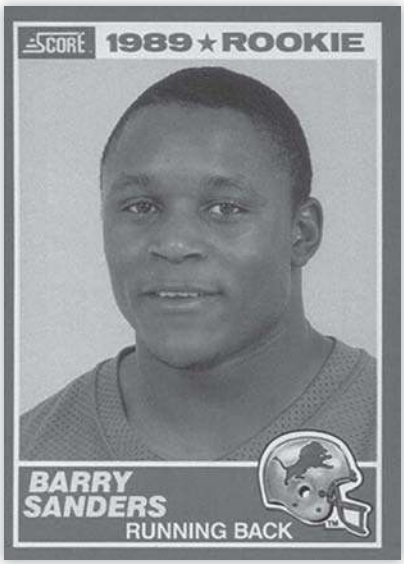
No, it's not the most valuable. But it's symbolic of so many things. First, it helped launch a company that transformed the sports card landscape and pushed what baseball cards could be. It's the signature card of an era when the hobby reached its highest highs. Oh, yeah, it's also got the most popular player of the '90s on the front.



1989 Fleer Bill Ripken FF #616

The 1989 Fleer Bill Ripken F— Face is the anti 1989 Upper Deck Ken Griffey Jr. It's like the Garbage Pail Kids equivalent of a baseball card. It's got a really bad word on it. That scribble on the bat knob caused quite the commotion. In young collectors, it was mostly rebellious glee. Probably for some adults, too. But not all of them. And it's not the kind of wholesome image baseball and its players generally prefer to show.

The 1989 Fleer Bill Ripken has several versions, most of which try to obscure the obscenity. But for casual collectors today, that's the one that everyone remembers, because, well, it's got a bad word on a baseball card.



1989 Score Barry Sanders RC #257

1989 Score Football is one of the most beloved sets of its era. And that takes all sports in to account. A big part of that is its ridiculously deep crop of Rookie Cards. A crop that is headlined by one of the top running backs of all-time, Barry Sanders.

By today's standards, there's not a lot that's fancy about the 1989 Score Barry Sanders. Even the photo is your basic portrait. Besides being the football card set of 1989, Score is also the only release to get Sanders in early. Pro Set didn't include him until Series 2. His first Topps card came in Topps Traded.

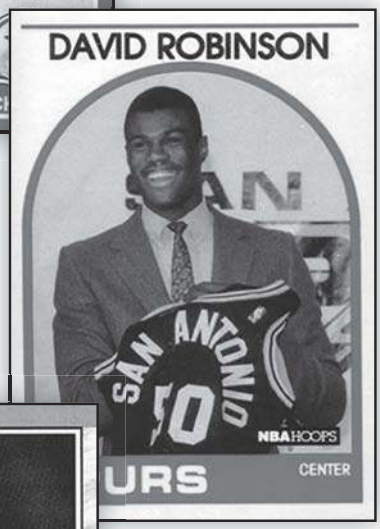
1989 Score Troy Aikman RC #270

That mention of a stacked rookie checklist in 1989 Score? It's true.

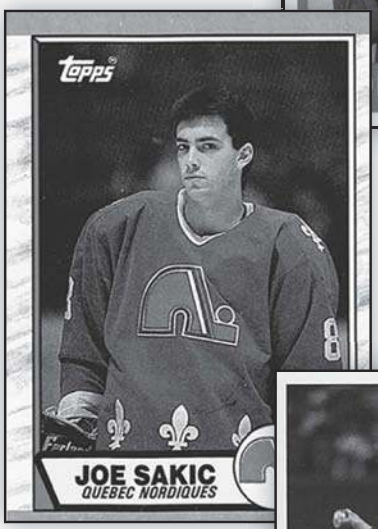
Aikman might not have quite the same prestigious numbers as Sanders but he was the star quarterback for "America's Team" during the hobby's boom years and a three-time Super Bowl winner.



1989-90 Hoops David Robinson RC #138

It's hard to believe a basketball card world where Michael Jordan wasn't king. In 1989, Air Jordan was certainly big but it would still be a couple of years before he became the phenom of phenoms. When it came to basketball, collectors were after David Robinson's first card — and only Rookie Card. It was a coup for Hoops, too, as Fleer didn't include the 1987 first overall pick in their 1989-90 set.

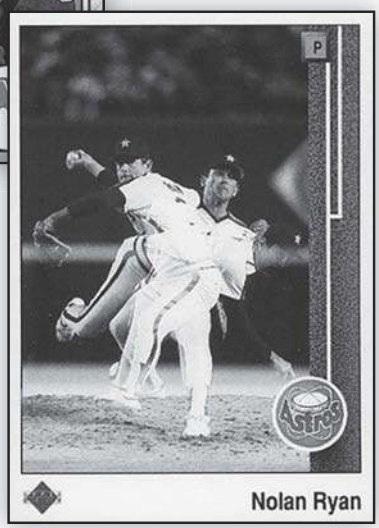
Available only in first series packs, the short print shows Robinson at a press conference. He has a card in the 1989-90 Hoops high series where he's pictured in action. This card doesn't have nearly the same prestige or value.



1989-90 Topps Joe Sakic RC #113

When you grow up in O-Pee-Chee country, it seems strange to go with an '80s Topps hockey card versus its Canadian counterpart. But the fact is, this one's a little bit more rare and has some added prestige because of it. It's not an extremely valuable card, nor is it that tough to find but it's a Rookie Card of one of the greatest players of his generation.

Plus it's an excuse to admire that gone-too-soon Nordiques jersey.



1989 Upper Deck Nolan Ryan #145

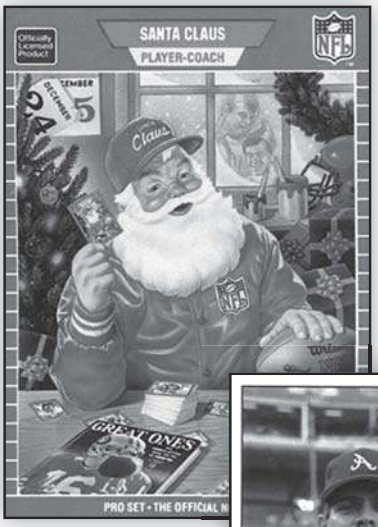
The anti-counterfeit holograms, foil packaging and high-quality glossy color are among 1989 Upper Deck Baseball's industry-transforming elements. But sometimes innovations just need to wow. Such is the case of the 1989 Upper Deck Nolan Ryan and its multiple-exposure photo. For most kids, photos like these were reserved for places like the pages of National Geographic or a fancy photography exhibit.

Upper Deck would continue to use multiple exposure cards in their baseball sets for years afterwards. The style also transferred over to other sports, including some surprise variations in 2018-19 Upper Deck Series 1 Hockey.

1989 Pro Set Santa Claus #1989

Lots of companies send Christmas cards for the holidays. Pro Set included a bit of an extra gift to go with theirs — a Santa Claus football card. It was the first of several St. Nick cards the company would go on to make over the years, although others could be found in packs. This one caused quite the stir back in 1989 as Pro Set limited the cards to dealers and their other connections. That meant it wasn't available in bulk like pretty much all of their other cards.

Those elves peeping through the window? It's Pro Set owner Ludwell Denny and NFL Commissioner Paul Tagliabue. Denny appears on all of the Pro Set Santa Claus cards.



1989 Upper Deck Dale Murphy Reverse Negative #357

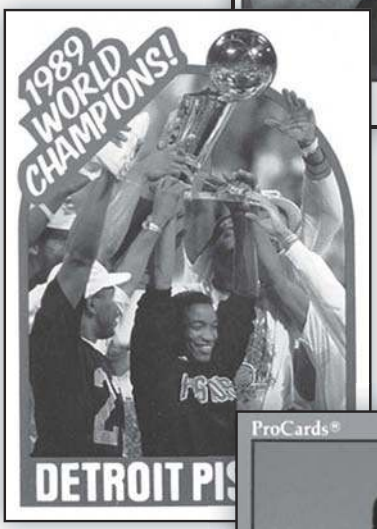
The 1989 Fleer Bill Ripken wasn't the year's only "oops" moment. Actually, it was a big year for errors. But some are bigger than others. One of those is the 1989 Upper Deck Dale Murphy Reverse Negative. The image on the card is flipped, giving it a backwards look. But with Murphy blocking much of the writing on the front of his jersey, it's a mistake that doesn't jump out. Obviously, because it got through multiple editors and approvals.

Approximately two percent of the 1989 Upper Deck Dale Murphy cards are reverse negatives. It remains one of the more iconic error cards of all-time. One big-time Murphy fan even went as far as getting the two-time MVP to sign a copy with a backwards signature.

1989-90 Hoops Detroit Pistons 1989 World Champions SP #353

Short prints go back to the earliest days of the hobby. From a business perspective, they can be smart as they keep collectors chasing. The inaugural Hoops set took from the playbook for a card celebrating the Detroit Pistons and their first World Championship. Available in second series packs, prices soared. They've fallen in the years since but the traditional of an SP World Champs card continues in Hoops still today.

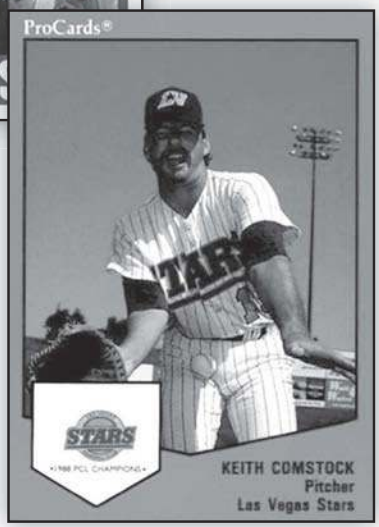
A different version of #353 was made available by the card maker in response to the card's rarity. This one has the Pistons logo on the front.



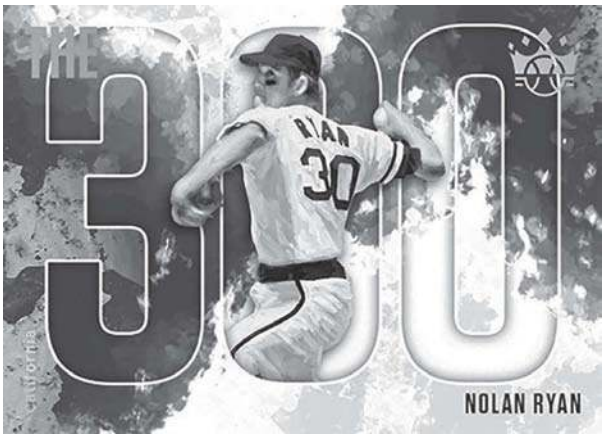
1989 Las Vegas Stars ProCards Keith Comstock #14

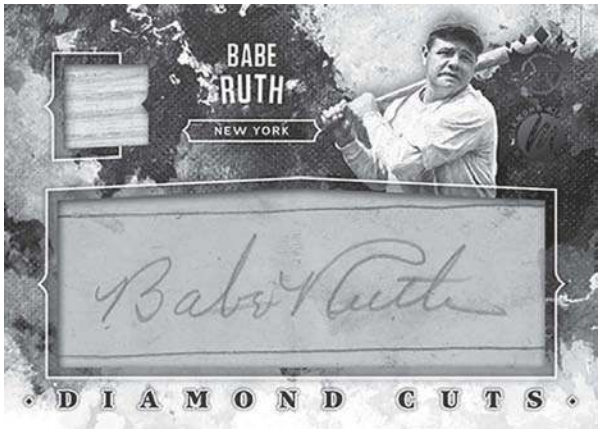
If we covet a card because it has a cuss word on it, of course we're going to laugh at this. Thank you, Mr. Comstock for your sacrifice in the name of low-brow humor.

Being a minor league card, this isn't the easiest to find. And while it doesn't have the same iconic status as some other 1989 sports cards, it can still fetch a lot more than you might otherwise expect.



BLAST FROM THE PAST





2019 Panini Diamond Kings Baseball cards are like a time capsule for both the sport and collecting. The checklist highlights current stars and prospects alongside those from the past — some from baseball's earliest years. As for the cards themselves, there are new designs and themes like you'd expect, but Panini gives nods to their past and some of the hobby's iconic releases from over a century ago.

Hobby boxes have a dozen packs with each delivering both an autograph and a memorabilia card. Retail configurations also exist, each with their own exclusives.

2019 PANINI DIAMOND KINGS BASEBALL BASE SET BASICS

The base set has 150 cards. Of those, 50 are short prints. Veterans, rookies and retired players are all included.

2019 PANINI DIAMOND KINGS BASEBALL BASE

Hobby boxes come with four total parallels, one Artist Proof and three Framed cards, which come in a variety of colors. Retail blaster boxes are the only place to find Purple and Rapture versions. Blasters also have a bonus pack with with a pair of Blue and Holo Gold cards. Red Frame parallels are exclusive to retail fat packs.

INSERTS

Every 2019 Panini Diamond Kings Baseball hobby pack should have an insert of some kind. These are where many themes from the past are showcased.

DK Flashbacks take it back to the early parts of 20 players' careers.

2019 PANINI DIAMOND KINGS BASEBALL DK FLASHBACKS

Dick Perez didn't debut Diamond Kings until 1982 Donruss Baseball. 1919 Diamond Kings play 'What If?' with the line, imagining a design that might have existed if they were around 100 years ago along with the players to match.

2019 PANINI DIAMOND KINGS BASEBALL 1919 DIAMOND KINGS

DK 205 draws inspiration from 1911 T205 Gold Border, one of the most iconic tobacco sets of all-time. Active and retired stars are included on these. Select cards also have autograph versions.

The 300 is a ten-card tribute to pitchers who reached the 300-win plateau over the course of their careers.

Other inserts include Squires, Team Heroes, HOF Heroes, Masters of the Game and tributes to both Babe Ruth and "Shoeless" Joe Jackson.

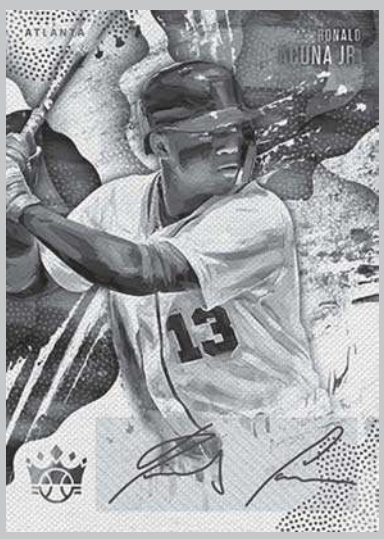
Additional memorabilia cards are available in the returning Bat Kings, Jersey Kings and DK Materials.



40 YEARS OF GREATNESS

The 2019 Panini Stars and Stripes USA Baseball release covers the national team past and present. The product also goes international in some spots with early cards of players from other parts of the world.

Hobby boxes come with five total autographs and memorabilia cards, which averages out to one per pack.

PANINI STARS AND STRIPES OVERVIEW

2019 Panini Stars and Stripes Baseball has a 100-card base set. As with past years, it's a mix of current national team players and stars from the past.

Parallels come in a variety of levels, including Printing Plates. These average one per pack, or five per box.

Retail packs offer a slightly different take on the base set with Longevity versions. Parallels include Ruby (/249), Sapphire (/49), and Emerald (/5).

Autographs cover a multiple USA Baseball rosters. New this year are 16U National Team Development Program players, taking the line's prospecting nature even deeper. 2019 Panini Stars and Stripes Baseball has on-card autographs from over 40 players. Ink colors make up some of the parallels. Silhouettes Signatures return with over-sized memorabilia pieces. Bats, jerseys and patches are among the swatches.

Jumbo memorabilia cards bring with them massive pieces of gear like letters and patches, covering almost the entire front of the card.

It's not just prospecting, though. Alumni Signatures draws from USA Baseball's past, featuring autographs from national team alumni. Players like Todd Helton and Roger Clemens take it back a few decades. 2018 first-overall pick Casey Mize is among the recent players to represent the USA.

The Chinese Taipei and Japanese Collegiate All-Stars Signatures cards are only available in hobby packs. These have parallels with patches, logos and tags.

BUSH LEAGUE? NOT!

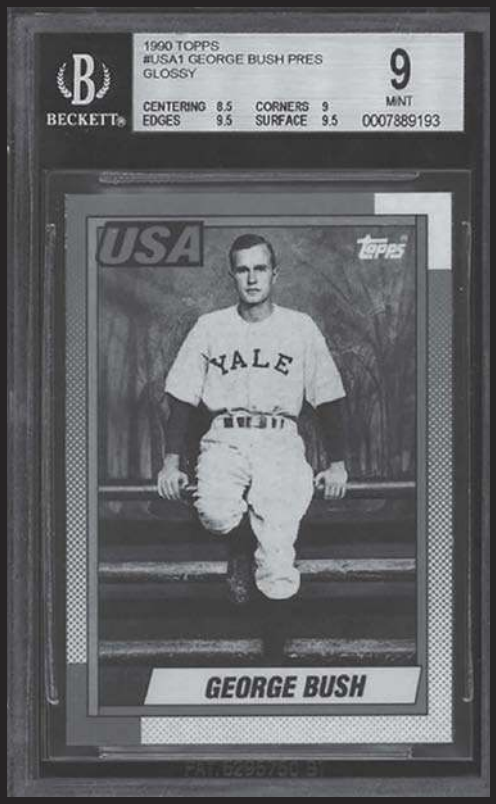
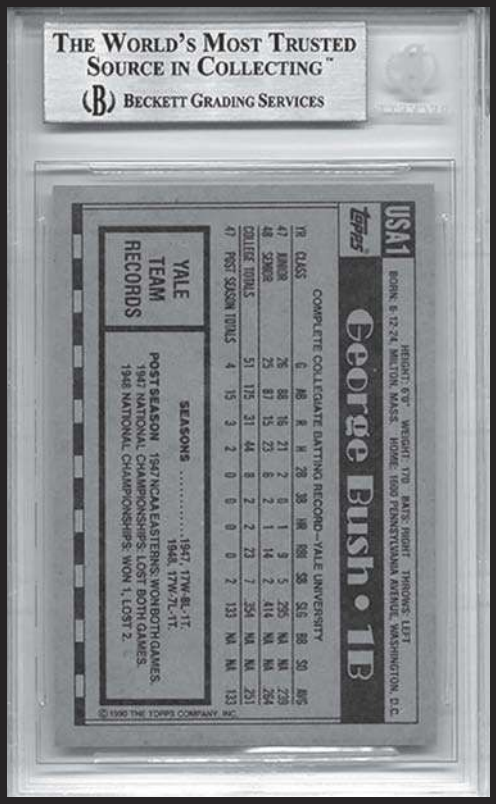
SCARCE GLOSSY VERSION OF PRESIDENT GEORGE H.W. BUSH'S 1990 TOPPS CARD TOPS $25,600





A scarce glossy version of the 1990 Topps George Bush baseball card sold on eBay for $25,695.

The BGS 9 Mint card is likely one of 100 copies given to President Bush during a February, 1990 White House visit by Topps' Arthur Shorin.

1990 TOPPS GEORGE BUSH – ONE CARD, TWO VERSIONS

It was discovered by PSA in 2013 that the famous card has two different versions. It's believed the ones with the glossy coating were the ones in the binder presented to the President. These are the cards that have the direct tie to the President and the history that comes with them.

Other copies exist without the coating. Not intended for public release, several have still made their way onto the secondary market over the years. It's still exceptionally rare to see these show up.

In fact, between both BGS and PSA, this is a pop 1 at this grade with none higher. Just nine glossy 1990 Topps George Bush cards have been rated to BGS. This is the only one to receive a Mint 9. Other grades include three 8.5s and three 8s. The highest grade for the card by PSA is NM-MT 8.

HISTORY AND BACKGROUND

The card shows the 41st President in a black and white photo from his days as a member of the Yale baseball team. He played first base for the university from 1946 to 1948. Those final two years included trips to the College World Series.

Through the presentation, the 1990 Topps George Bush baseball card got a lot of attention both in the hobby and in the mainstream press. Sports cards were at their peak at the time. Although few have ever actually owned or even seen a copy of this card in person, its story and history have made it resonate and helped it maintain its status as one of the top cards released at the time.

The sale for the BGS 9 glossy 1990 Topps George Bush was through eBay consignor PWCC Auctions.

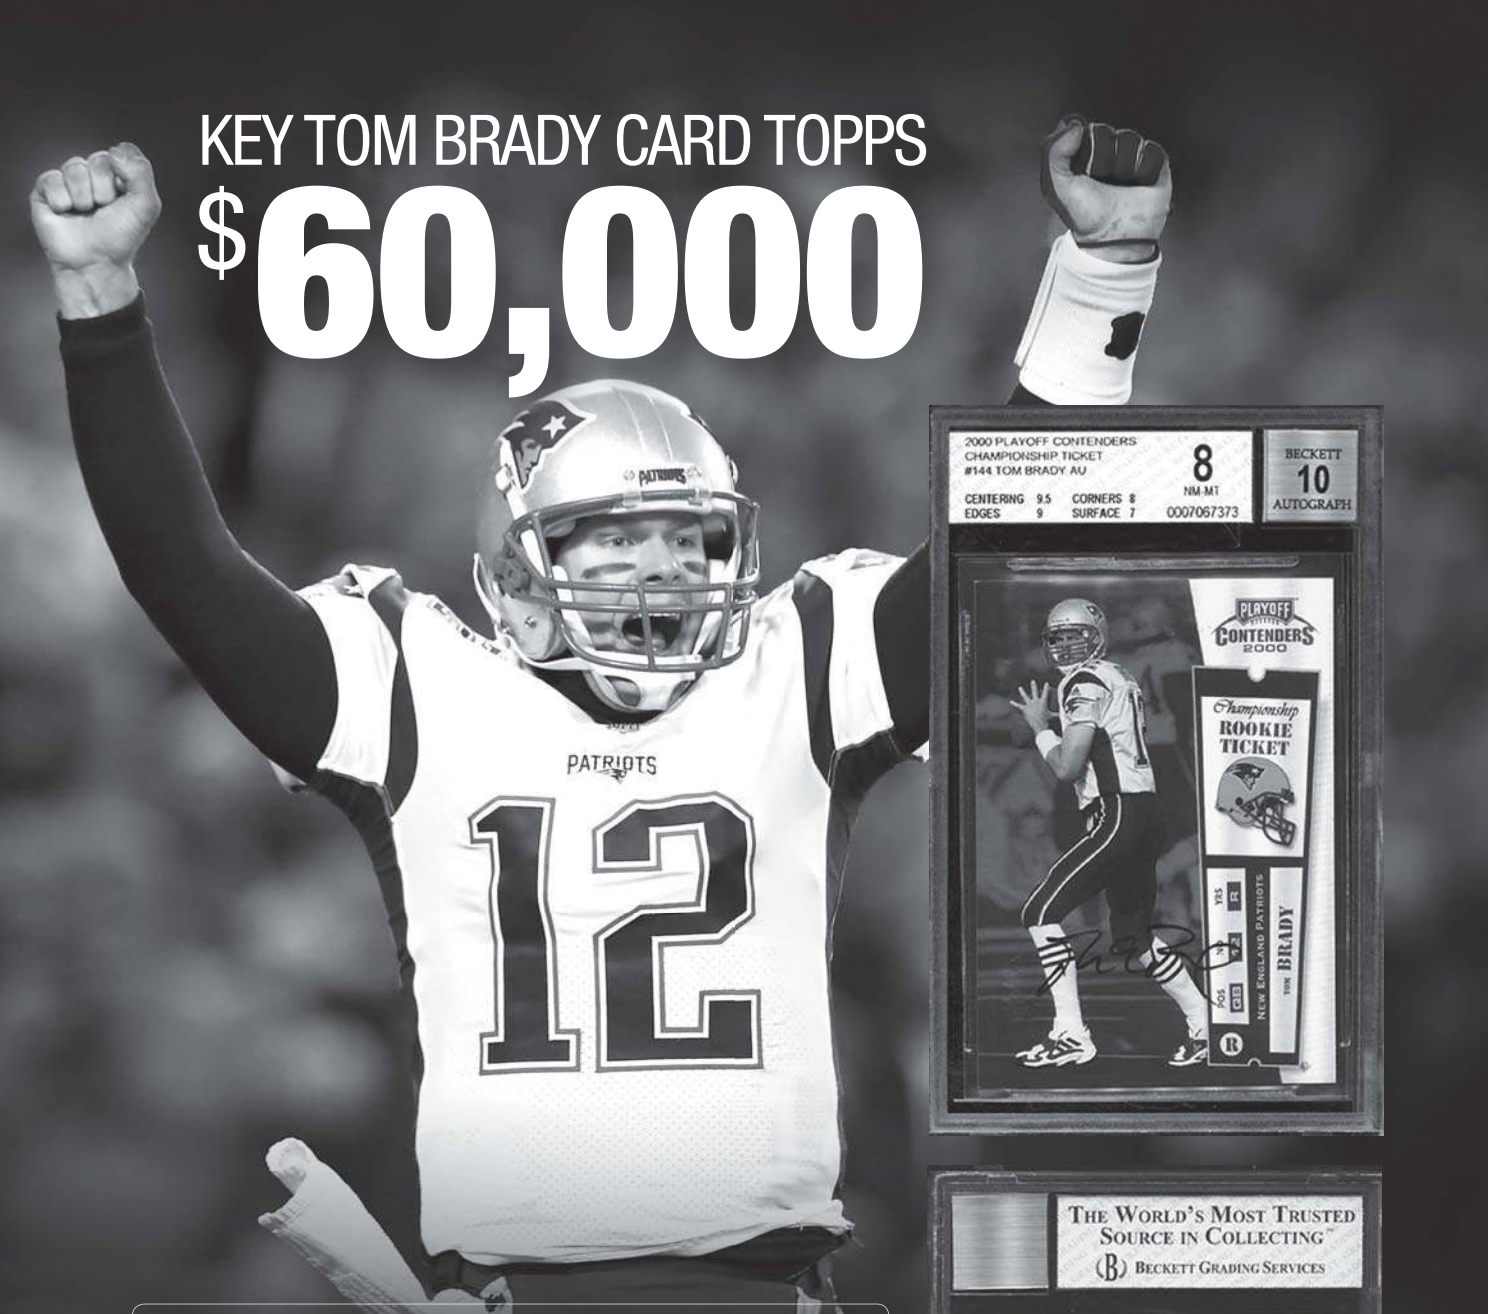
KEY TOM BRADY CARD TOPPS $60,000



When you're a quarterback who has now appeared in nine Supere Bowls, your football cards fetch big prices. A 2000 Playoff Contenders Championship Ticket Tom Brady sold for $61,100 on eBay on January 24.

Limited to 100 copies, this is the lone parallel version of the most coveted Tom Brady Rookie Card. This particular card is copy 005/100.

The card is graded NM-MT 8 with a 10 for the signature by BGS. Between BGS and PSA, the 2000 Playoff Contenders Championship Ticket Tom Brady hasn't been given a grade higher than a Mint 9. At the time of the auction, there were 24 BGS 8s, 25 BGS 8.5s and seven BGS 9 copies. From PSA, there were 11 NM-MT 8s and just one Mint 9.

Like the base version, the Championship Ticket parallel includes Brady's signature. Besides the serial number on the back, these scarce versions have holofoil on them as well.

The card was sold through eBay consignor PWCC. It received 78 bids from 39 different bidders.

WELCOME 2019 TOPPS BASEBALL!

The first cards of the new year began appearing for sale online a full week before the announced national release date, and with those first fewactions for cards in hand meant that the 2019 baseball card season was underway with the release of 2019 Topps Series I Baseball.

A few months ago Topps ran a poll asking collectors to pick who would take the prestigious spot atop the 2019 Topps Baseball. The votes are in and it's not Bartolo Colon.

Ronald Acuna Jr., the 2018 National League Rookie of the Year, is card No. 1.

By the last week in January, Hobby and Retail packs began appearing on the shelves. By then, our intrepid Hobby Editor Ryan Cracknell already had a healthy list of Short Prints (SP), Super Short Prints (SSP) and variations.

Check Beckett.com for his up-to-date list.

YOUR BODY YOUR HOPE

Your immune system may be the key to beating cancer.

Immunotherapy, a new approach to cancer treatment, is bringing hope to cancer survivors everywhere. Immunotherapy works by empowering your body's own immune system to correctly identify and eradicate cancer cells. This approach has been used to effectively fight many types of cancer, with new research leading to greater hope each day. Speak with your doctor and visit standuptocancer.org/immunotherapy to learn if immunotherapy may be right for you.
